Freemasonry and Life Assurance.

EADING lately one of the lectures or addresses of the late George Dawson, Esq., M.A., of Birmingham, in which he treated of the great importance of life assurance, the thought struck us that many of his remarks would be worthy of consideration by three classes of society: namely,—those who are anxious to become Freemasons before they have taken care to provide for relatives dependent on them; those who, having joined our Order, are lavish in connection therewith, and yet are not amongst the roll of life assurers; and those who, having the direction and management of our public charitable institutions, have not yet taken into account, as a principal factor in qualification for assistance, the early intention of an applicant to provide against the contingencies of life. We will follow out this train of thought; for we believe that very great advantages would mutually accrue to these three classes if a means could be found to ensure the practice of that "prudence" on which we so much enlarge in our theoretical teachings.

In the first place, it must be admitted as a fact that no man has a right to expect admission into our Order unless, in addition to moral character and respectable social position, he is possessed of independent means, or income sufficient to provide for the prospective needs of himself and family. One of our most ancient charges instructs us, in regard to candidates, to "let them first consider their income and family, and know that Freemasonry requires ability, attendance, and a good appearance to maintain and support its ancient and honourable grandeur." Therefore, to be true and loyal to our institution, no man other than such as those above described should ever be proposed into our Lodges; nor then, unless some evidence has been afforded that of the four cardinal virtues that of prudence had been practised, to some extent at least, by assurance against family distress in the event of his death; no matter in how slight a degree, for the desire to increase a slender provision has a natural growth in all good men. Says Dawson: "I would rather beg whilst I am alive, than be begged for after I was dead. If I must be a pauper, I would rather bear what shame there is in it while I am alive, than I would suffer my friends to go round and make a collection for my children after I was dead;" and this should be the inborn sentiment of every man worthy of admission into Freemasonry. And there can be no excuse, on the score of inability to take the initial step, either in regard to condition of health or of cost. In respect of health, if a man's physical state is such as to altogether preclude him from the benefits of assurance, he can hardly be fitted for association with either "labour" or "refreshment;" and, in respect of cost, with what readiness will many men produce their initiation fee of five, ten, or fifteen guineas or more, and in grand style lavish unnecessary money on regalia and personal gratification, whilst not one penny has been set aside for family provision in case of accident or death. This should not be; the outlay does no good to the Order, and it inflicts harm upon those who should be protected. And we say that it should be, if not a regulation, yet, in these days lex non scripta, that every candidate for Freemasonry should have first provided by assurance against certain misfortunes. As regards other "unforeseen circumstances," our craft has never yet forgotten splendid provision for those in calamity; and that fact alone should, and, we believe, does, strengthen our arguments in favour of some measures being taken in the direction we point out, to prevent the Order being overwhelmed by the admission of persons unfitted for it.

What we have just said applies to the two first of the three classes referred to; and now as to those who control our Benevolent Fund and our respective Charitable Institutions. Would it not be worth while to consider in what manner it could be made understood that more consideration would be given to applicants for assistance, for support, and for education, to those who had exemplified, on their introduction into Freemasonry, that provident care for others which, consequent on "perhaps unavoidable circumstances," they are now seeking from others. It could be done without in any way offending the prejudices of those who speak of the Masonic Order as "not a benefit society," and might think that a policy in an assurance office would be a premium to secure grants and assistance from our funds and institutions. By-the-bye, is not the Order already, by the many years' past admissions of very unqualified persons into our Lodges, fast becoming, if it has not already become, a big benefit society? Otherwise, how comes it that we have to listen to applicants who, in some instances, are not even M.M.'s, and in very many not members of even one or two years' standing? But, benefit society or not, big or little, we ought in "justice,"-another of the cardinal virtues we expatiate upon—to do something to check the flow of the improvidence which swamps the masonic soil, and destroys the seed of that brotherly love and relief which should grow to the advantage of those most deserving amongst us. We say, that of the amount any man is prepared to pay for initiation and subscription a portion should be applied to provision against the inevitable; and rather than it should not be so applied he should select less expensive and extravagant Lodges. As to state of health precluding assurance, as we have heard some say, we know better. Here is a packet of prospectuses of Life Assurance Associations beside us. Let us take one at random,—here it is,—and in it we find that second-class lives, as those "whose state of health or family history prevents the acceptance of their proposals at the ordinary premium" (we quote the Sceptre Life Association of London) are denominated, can be assured by an arrangement which appears to us to be equitable and, in fact, more to the interest of the assurer than the company. In that, however, we have no concern. Our own policies are issued from other offices, whose conditions may be of the same nature and equally equitable as those of the Sceptre. We mention that association only in order that what we have said may be verified by reference, should any doubt.

Well, then, as every man can be assured, and as every candidate for Freemasonry ought to be assured, as well in justice to his family as to the Order to which he is about to attach himself, that he may not, in the first place, leave those he should protect and cherish dependent on his friends, and, in the second, not hinder the relief of those whose misfortunes have not deceased, what should prevent the application of a remedy to the prevalent evil? Probably, this question may be deemed of sufficient importance to interest many, as well Freemasons as others, who are concerned in fostering provident habits in early life amongst the population To all such we are prepared, as far as our limited space will permit, to make public their views on the subject, and, so far as our humble influence can be made serviceable, to support such proposals as may seem best adapted for the purpose of enforcing on candidates for Freemasonry a preliminary provision against the sad results which often follow upon that "awful moment" to which our attention is so forcibly directed in the most solemn of all our ceremonials.

MARK MASONRY.

The Grand Lodge of Mark Master Masons of England and Wales will be held at the Holborn Restaurant, London, W.C., on Tuesday next, the 4th inst., at 4 for 5 p.m., when, after the confirmation of the minutes of the half-yearly communication of the 5th June last, and of the moveable Grand Lodge held at Cheltenham on the 10th July, the report of the General Board will be taken. Among the recommendations arising out of the report, the following will be

"That the annuity payable to male annuitants be increased to £26, and that to female annuitants to £21, and that a sum of £5 be annually presented at Christmas to each annuitant for the purpose of procuring clothing or fuel or other necessaries; and that the Book of Constitutions, page 76, clause viii., and page 79, clause iv., be altered accordingly."

The M.W. Grand Master and the Grand Treasurer for the ensuing year will be respectively nominated, and subsequently the charity jewels to the stewards at the last Benevolent Fund Festival will be presented. The next festival of that fund will be held in July, and brethren willing to act as stewards on that occasion should forward their names as early as possible to Bro. C. F. Matier, the secretary to that fund, at 8a, Red Lion Square, W.C.

The Masonic "Poet's Corner."

(Original and Selected.)

THE SQUARE.

In the Holy Land, Oriental Masons teach that while the SUVREME ARCHITECT used the Gauge, Gavel, Plumb, Level, and other working tools in building the earth, yet when HE built the heavens HE used the SQUARE alone.

Twas in Damaseus on an April day; In the bazaars where pilgrims congregate I met an aged Mason; on his head The turban of Mohammed, large and green; In his right hand the mystic almond rod, Such as wise Jacob bore, and Moses bore When the Red Sea was cleft beneath his hand.

Mustapha was his name; tall, gaunt and gray, Yet his black eye, undimmed, flashed into mine; And his strong hand exchanged the mystic grip With sinewy force.

He was my senior by some forty years, And sixty years a Mason. He had thought More deeply than the most, of the intent Of Solomon's wise imagery so quaint and old, And how it makes its impress on the soul. I asked him which of all these emblems wise That glorify our Trestle Board, is best? Which gives divinest light? which points to us Most surely the Great Master of the Craft?

In quick reply, he laid that sinewy hand Upon the SQUARE. It is my favourite type, One that in a thousand Lodges I have loved To moralize upon, the Trying Square.

He took it up, and with great reverence Raised it toward the Throne. "By this," he said, "The Heaven of Heavens in perfect order fell, When God took out the Master's implements From His own chest, and built the universe! By this the radiant Throne—by this the Courts Of His own glory were constructed sure! Earth and the stars were fashioned well by these, The Gavel, Trowel, Level, Line and Rule; The Lodge Celestial by the Square alone!"

This was the legend that the Arab told. I partly do believe it, for I see In this full angle and these perfect lines What in no other working tool appears. And noting that you choose this honoured type To give your Lodge a name, I charge you now, Dear brethren, KEEP WITHIN IT! Do your work, Your praise, your counsels to the listening Craft, And oh, your daily walk before the world, WITHIN THE SQUARE.

ALL communications should be forwarded to 59, Moor Lane, Fore Street, E.C., London. Those relating to Editorial matter to be addressed to the Editor; and all others to Messrs. Adams Bros.

Our pages are always at the service of our contemporaries, masonic or otherwise, but we should like others to do unto us as we do by them, namely, acknowledge the source of the information they publish. This remark is called forth by the announcement of certain paragraphs in the Weskly Chronicle which could only be obtainable through our columns, and in respect of which no acknowledgment has been made. Even "exchange" has not been offered.

Our attention has been called to a printer's error in our last week's editorial, in the substitution of but one letter for another; an apparently trifling matter, yet absolutely destroying the sense of a sentence. Referring to "toleration in matters ethical, being one of the landmarks of our order," we are made to ask "but is toleration extended upwards? By one religious body, no!" To this no meaning can be attached. But reading as we wrote, "Is toleration extended us-wards?" the context is plain, and the argument incontestable.

"Benedictine" (sce "Correspondence"), asks if there is any objection to ladies wearing ornaments in which masonic emblems are displayed. We know of no masonic sumptuary edict which would be disregarded by the practice; and as to objections doubt their utility if made. We ourselves, "permit" the fair partner of our joys and sorrows, when sharing in the more than ordinary "gay and festive" gatherings of the craft, to adorn herself with a gorgeous brooch of K.T. design, "manufactured by Bro. George Kenning," and presented to her by a friendly Sir Knight; and if we did not "permit," 'twould be all the same. It is possessed and must be shown! We would advise "Benedictine," and all other brethren in doubt on the subject, not to interfere with any lady wearing whatever she chooses, "permitted" or otherwise. "Benedictine" should know that—

"The man's a fool who strives, by force or skill,
To stem the torrent of a woman's will;
For if she will, she will, you may depend on't,
And if she won't, she won't, so there's an end on't!"

Another correspondent asks us for an opinion as to the status of a brother placed in the Junior Warden's chair to supply, during a portion of the W.M.'s year of office, the place of the brother appointed and invested as J.W. at the regular installation meeting of the lodge, but who has resigned his wardenship? The substituted brother is not the Junior Warden of the lodge, and cannot exercise any of the functions beyond ceremonial work within the lodge, or enjoy any of the privileges attached to the office, whilst merely acting as locum tenens for the regularly appointed and invested officer, who, by his resignation, practically leaves the lodge without a Junior Warden until the next annual period of installation of W.M.

The Jewish Chronicle of the 16th inst. announces the death of Bro. Levi A. Cohen at the St. Thomas's Home, the department for paying-patients in the hospital of that name. Our deceased brother was a well-known man at Tangiers, and to the Jews in Morocco his death will be a severe and long-felt loss. In association with our order he largely promoted, about three years ago, the establishment of the first Masonic Lodge ever opened in Morocco, and held one of the highest offices in that lodge, which has its headquarters at Tangiers. The event was considered of sufficient interest to be commemorated by portrait sketches in one of the London illustrated papers of the principal officers of the lodge. Bro. Cohen among them. He was a remarkable man in a land where civilization has barely obtained a footing; and the recollection of his short but usefully spent life, which terminated at the early age of 44, will not easily be effaced from those who in this country and in Morocco knew him and appreciated his sterling worth.

We hail with great satisfaction the terms of a motion to be made at the meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge of the Isle of Man, of which the R.W. Bro. Major John Senhouse Goldie-Taubman, J.P. and speaker of the House of Keys is the Prov. Grand Master; and which will be held at the Masonic Hall, Douglas, this day, 29th inst. The motion will be made by W. Bro. R. Swinnerton, P.G.D.C. as a recommendation from the Spencer Walpole Temperance Lodge, No. 2197, and is to the following effect:—"That, with a view to securing uniformity of working, the Provincial Grand Lodge be requested to take such steps as may be necessary to promote the holding of combined Lodges of Instruction." This is a step in the right direction. If the motion is carried, we shall watch results with much interest, and shall hope to see its adoption in other Provinces prior to a movement to secure something of the sort for the metropolis.

LADIES' JEWELS.

To the Editor of THE MASONIC STAR.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,

Could there be any masonic objection to the lady friend (how-ever near and dear) of a mason wearing a brooch or anything in the way of ornament with a masonic emblem upon it? If this were allowed, I think it would please the ladies and not injure their masonic husband or brother. Yours fraternally, BENEDICTINE.

CLOSING IN 2ND AND 3RD DEGREES.

To the Editor of THE MASONIC STAR.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,

I very much regret the second paragraph of my letter on the above subject in last week's MASONIC STAR was not sufficiently definite so as to be clearly understood.

By an unfortunate slip of the pen, the word "that" follows the word "insufferable"; the phrase should have been "it is insufferable to omit such a pleasurable and instructive ceremony when neatly performed," &c., &c. As I am desirous of the attentive consideration of the brethren being given to what I consider a matter of importance. I trouble you with this correction, taking much blame to myself for my carelessness.

To the Editor of THE MASONIC STAR.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,

As regular subscribers to your paper, let us add our encouragement to what we consider a long-felt want.

We should like to know by what authority a Prov. Sec. grants a dispensation for a masonic funeral, but "no ceremony whatever is permitted in the church or at the grave side." We hear that in some provinces such a prohibition is not in force, but here it has been made a hard-and-fast rule.

The insertion of this letter would, no doubt, elicit replies from members of other provinces. Yours truly and fraternally,

W.M., FOR SELF AND MEMBERS.

To the Editor of THE MASONIC STAR.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,

A brother is invested with a Warden's collar. Shortly afterwards he receives an appointment which causes him to remove so far from the lodge that he cannot attend the meetings. He, accordingly, writes to the W.M. resigning his office.

Under these circumstances, has the W.M. the power to bestow the collar on another brother at the next regular lodge meeting? And, if so, would this second brother be recognised as a member of Grand Lodge, seeing that the name of the first invested officer has been duly sent up? November 26th, 1888. Yours fraternally,

To the Editor of The Masonic Star.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,

Will you allow me to inform the editors of other calendars, and those who have communicated with me on the subject, that the calendar will not appear again under my editorship, as, for various reasons, I intend devoting my attention to metropolitan masonry.

I may add that more interest was taken in the calendar out of the province than in, and it seems odd that so large a province ar. Fraternally yours, HENRY LOVEGROVE, P.M., P.Z. cannot properly support a calendar. 26, Budge Row, E.C.

Re MASONIC CHARITY ASSOCIATIONS.

To the Editor of THE MASONIC STAR.

DEAR SIR AND BROTHER,

With reference to Junior Warden, Bro. Beavis' and other letters, I think it is quite right that the Secretaries of these Benevolent Associations should have some recognition for their valuable and gratuitous services; but I don't see that the head-quarters should be expected to recognise it themselves. What I should humbly like to suggest is this, that when brothers and subscribers are unable to continue their weekly subscriptions, the amount they may have paid towards the funds should form a surplus, which, when sufficiently large, should be appropriated to the purchase of a Life Governorship in any of the Masonic Charities and given to the Secretary, instead of refunding it to the brothers or others who, from some unforeseen circumstances, are unable to continue their aid and support. Yours fraternally.

Charles Townley, so well known in musical and dramatic circles, and the vice-presidents are Mr. James Terry, P.G.S.B., Sec., R.M.B.I.; Bro. F. Binekes, P.G.S.B., Sec., R.M.I.G.; Bro. F. R. W. Hedges, P.G.S.B., Sec., R.M.I.G., and Bro. Edward Terry, P.G.S. and P.M. 29, 1305. The commendable feature of the ball is that the profits arising therefrom are to be given to the masonic charities, and it therefore deserves the hearty consideration and support of all members of the craft, especially those residing in the northern part of our metropolis. The committee is a thoroughly representative one, not only of the craft but of residents of North London, and their names should be a sufficient guarantee to make the ball a greater success even than those which have preceded it. The tickets have been fixed at such a price as to make the company select, and those of our brethren who determine to be present will, we are sure, spend an enjoyable evening, and feel a heartfelt satisfaction in having once more been able to somewhat add to the funds of our several splendid institutions.

MASONIC LECTURE, -- On Tuesday, the 20th inst., at the Merchants' Lodge of Instruction, Liverpool, an interesting lecture on "Ancient Masonic Emblems" was delivered by Bro. Captain J. Macnab, W.M. 241. Bro. C. C. Robin, 786, occupied the chair, being supported by Bro. J. Brotherton, the preceptor, and there was a large attendance. Bro. Macnab announced that he had chosen for this lecture the purely ancient emblems only, reserving those of later date for a future occasion, and the novel and interesting manner in which he explained their origin, and accounted for their presence in modern masonry after the lapse of thousands of years, called forth the hearty encomiums of the audience. It is intended by the members of this useful lodge to have these historical lectures at frequent intervals in future, and on next Tuesday evening another member, Bro. West, is to follow on a kindred subject. We strongly sympathise with these endeavours to instruct by means of lectures other than sectional in our Lodges of Instruction, and wish they were more general.

"HANDS ACROSS THE SEA." AT THE PRINCESS' THEATRE.

Mr. Henry Pettitt has given us another good, emotional, sensational drama. As an example of pieces of this description, Hands across the Sea may take a very respectable position; and it doubt-less will for a long time attract profitable audiences. There is always a strong family likeness in plays of this type, but conventionality does not trouble the spectator if only the workmanship be good. For no matter how familiar may be the incidents or the personages introduced, a capable dramatist and one whose instinct, as is the case with Mr. Pettitt, carries him on the right track, weaves his materials together in such combinations, that a new complexion is given to the whole, and the charm of the audience is complete. There is, perhaps, one fault which may reasonably be found in this play. It is a fault, however, for which no remedy can be found by me, because its elimination would necessitate a recasting of a good deal of the play. The villain is far too transparent and unreal, not to say feeble: true it is he indulges in his villainy freely enough, but this does not constitute the strength of mind and purpose which would be necessary to effectually weave the net around the hero, Jack Dudley. Jack is a man of purpose, of will, of intelligence: he would, despite his country breeding, see through Robert Stillwood at a glance. Even little Lucy, a girl in her teens, whose heart and womanhood are all she thinks about, has sufficient worldly sense to frustrate some of Bob's sweet schemes; and yet, Jack Dudley, presumably a strong man who has hitherto been able to fight his way successfully through the world, yields to the wiles of the Stillwood brain without even a mental wriggle with his own common sense. Of course, no drama can do without its villain; the hero and the heroine must of necessity go through their allotted trials during the earlier acts, in order that they may be reunited at last: the exigencies of the audience must be obeyed, and the author has to yield. Sometimes the criminal motive is strong, sometimes it is weak; here it is undoubtedly weak, but its weakness may be condoned in consideration of the other merits of the play. Speaking of originality with regard to this play, it is curious that a scene in it should have been taken bodily from La Maison du Mari. But with all the faults which the critical may find in it, Hands Across the Sea attracts and interests the public. As the hero, Mr. Neville gives us a touch of his old form; his Jack Dudley is a splendid specimen of an Englishman; in his most emotional moments he is manly and not tearful, and he carries the weight of the play upon his shoulders in the most satisfactory fashion. A sweet heroine is Miss Mary Rorke; her pathos is so natural and real, and her attractiveness is so great that she thoroughly enlists the sympathy of her auditors. Mr. Pateman gives us a marvellous performance; his death scene, indeed, is too terrible, and this is the worst that can be said of it. Mr. Garden is, as usual, highly amusing, and his fun is ably seconded by Miss Webster; and Miss Vizetty, whom I welcome as a clever recruit to the stage, was very nice in a small part. Mr. Abingdon plays the villain in a cool, artistic manner, while Mr. Buchlaw and Mr. Cross lend most valuable aid to a generally capable cast. Altogether, the Princess' piece is well worth seeing.

The Armada at Drury Lane will be withdrawn very shortly to make way for the Christmas Pantomime, which will be on the subject of The Babes in the Wood, and Robin Hood and his Merry Men, and Harrequin who Killed Cock Robin—a title which, though comprehensive, is not brief. Augustus Druriolanus announces "unprecedented preparations," and he has engaged a splendid company, chief amongst whom are Messrs. Nichols, Campbell, Leno, Stevens, and Miss Harriett Vernon.

The Masonic Amateur Dramatic Society of Sheffield gave a performance on the 21st inst., at the Baths, Victoria Street, when Tom Taylor's Sheep in Wolf's Clothing, and W. S. Gilbert's Tom Cobb were performed. These two pieces are somewhat a tax on a mateur to last the street of the amateur talent; but, I am informed that everything was done in a highly satisfactory manner. The gentlemen were ably assisted by Misses Ada Melrose, Lilian Hingston, and Ella Stirling.

On Friday evening last I journeyed to Learnington, at the invitation of Mr. Yorke Stephens, there to assist at an interesting première, to wit, that of True Heart, a powerfully interesting drama by a clever young dramatist, Mr. Henry Byatt, whose play, The Brothers, now running at the Vaudeville Theatre, all who see admire. Folk here in London will probably see this new play, and will have an opportunity of comparing it with some of those farragoes of dramatic rubbish which pervade the provinces and attract good business because the towns they are taken to are smothered with blood-curdling posters, and the company carries "real" steam-rollers, or "real" bloodhounds, or other realities of the Vincent Crummel type. Speaking individually, I consider True Heart a manly, breezy, and vigorous drama, full of interest and capable of attracting the public, wherever it may be sent. It was excellently acted by the company engaged, which embraces the names of some very popular artists, viz.: Messrs. Yorke Stephens, J. A. Howell, Sidney Vallentine, William Calvert, Henry Elmore, Murray-Innes; and Mesdames Clara Cowper, E. Chester, and Violet Croft.

Our City Article.

As the Masonic Star is written by Masons for Masons, who are mostly business men having more or less interest in the Stock and Share Markets, we include in our columns a weekly Money Article, written by one of our Craft actively engaged in the markets. It is written without prejudice, and with a view to give a general idea of what is going on from week to week. As the writer of the article has some twenty years' experience of the subject, and may fairly say that he knows the ways of doing business, what is what and who is who, he will be pleased to answer any inquiries addressed to the Editor, where advice is asked, upon whatever requires explanation, so that pleasure and profit may be the result. Any letter sent to us, and any reply given, will be treated "on the square.

Capel Court, November 28th, 1888. Although no advance was made in the Bank rate last week, in the best informed quarters it is confidently expected that a change will be made before long, and that money will be dearer as we get towards the end of the year. The latest development of the monetary position is the large shipments of gold from New York, and although this may serve to modify the pressure here, it merely shifts the place of the disturbance, and this is to be seen in the very unsettled condition of the New York markets. From day to day it is impossible to tell whether we are to look for better prices in American railway shares, or the reverse, and in this contingency my remarks of last week are equally applicable now. This is not the time to buy stocks in Yankee railways, neither is it safe to sell after the recent fall. We have momentary recoveries followed by relapses, and the dealers in the Stock Exchange are quite at sea as to which way the movement is tending. Looking at it merely from the monetary point of view, I am doubtful of any permanent recovery before the New Year, and still advise that this market, at all events, should be left alone.

When I turn to the English rails there is apparently nothing adverse to apprehend; the traffic returns still show good increases, sufficient to affect favourably the dividend prospects for the halfyear, nor is this increase altogether discounted. The movements during the past week have all been upwards. North Easterns, to which I called attention last week, have risen from 1561 to 158, and may go still higher. Brighton "A's " are 1 per cent. better, and, with a continued increase in the takes they should improve. They are now over £15,000 to the good, and the distribution on the "A" stock will probably be at the rate of ½ per cent. better for the year; but, at the same time, it must not be forgotten that this stock is not strongly held, and, as a very favourite speculation, is more liable to fluctuation than any other. It is rather to the heavy lines, such as Midland, Great Western, and North Western, that I would direct the attention of the speculator.

The uneasy feeling in Paris is affecting adversely all Continental stocks, and from the different Bourses the markets are reported weak. Prices have been carried very high, so that there is rather a tendency towards realisations than fresh purchases. The Russian loan, it is said, will be issued on the 7th December and, until that is safely floated, every effort will be made to keep prices up. Paris is so much committed to the Panama Canal scheme that a collapse in that undertaking is an ever-present source of weakness, and this affects the dealing in all other securities. Rio Tinto shares should be watched very carefully, and may be purchased with tolerable safety on any fall.

Since I wrote, Canadian Pacific Shares have been much depressed, and although there is every disposition to think well of them, any advance in prices is taken advantage of by the holders to get rid of them. The determination of the directors to persevere in needless extensions and in a fighting policy is not calculated to inspire confidence amongst the proprietors, nor is it at all likely to benefit the railway; the ordinary shares have been as low as $52\frac{1}{2}$, and, although now somewhat above that price, they are not an improving property. Grand Trunks have been making a hard fight to get themselves up, but the result is not a great success, although there is always a large oversold account in these stocks; there is also a large amount held as security against advances by the Banks, and this is not an element of strength at this time of year. At the fortnightly settlement yesterday, contango rates ruled high, but not so much as had been anticipated.

Mining shares are fairly active, and there is a disposition to buy the South African Gold Shares, but I need scarcely say that there are good and bad lots in this group. Spes Bona shares are not a bad purchase just now, as they are likely to be carried higher. Nitrates have advanced no further, as there is nothing actually to warrant any higher prices, and dealing is confined to a very narrow circle. The public have found they are only made use of by a certain set of wire-pullers as their services are required, so that they are very shy of assisting in the movement. There has been a good rise in the shares of a small company called Bell's Asbestos, but it is only amongst a few speculators that the dealings have taken place. Without going into the merits of the concern, it certainly seems extraordinary that people should give 18½ for £5 shares in a company which has never yet paid a dividend, and about the prospects of which absolutely nothing is known. Looking at the markets generally, I consider that English railways afford the best chance of a rise, but, as regards foreign stocks and American rails, I look for continued weakness and lower prices up to the end of the year, with decided advance in the rates charged for the use of money.

Reports of Lodge & Chapter Meetings.

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF WILTSHIRE.—The annual meeting of this Provincial Grand Lodge was held in the Town Hall, Reyal Sussex Lodge of Emulation, No. 355. The R.W.P.G.M., Lord Methuen, not being present. Sir Gabriel Goldney, Bart., P.G.W. Eng., D.P.G.M., presided. The attendance of brethren from the various lodges in the province was good. The roll having been called and duly respected to the minutes of the last Prov. G. Ledge. called and duly responded to, the minutes of the last Prov. G. Lodge meeting were read and confirmed and the various reports received and adopted. The D.P.G.M. then addressed the brethren, and in the course of his remarks said that the P.G.M., Lord Methuen, had desired him to express his regret at his unavoidable absence, being now in Scotland, and having mistaken the date of the meeting. He then made feeling allusion to the illness of the Prov. Charity Sec., Bro. W. Nott; and next congratulated the province on the appointment of Bro. Rev. J. A. Lloyd, P.P.G.C., as Grand Chaplain of England. Referring to the Boys' School, he recommended that no steward should be appointed from this province until the charges against the management of that institution were cleared up satisfactorily. He next spoke in complimentary terms of the founding of the new Lodge, "White Horse," No. 2227 (Westbury), and also to the excellent working of Lodges No. 632 (Stowbridge), and 1271 (Bradford), both of which he had recently had the pleasure of attending to instal their Worshipful Masters; and, in concluding, expressed his gratification at the large attendance of brethren and the cordial reception given by the receiving lodge. A vote of 25 guineas to the Benevolent Institution, to be placed on the list of Bro. W. H. Burt, as steward for that charity, was agreed to, and also one for the sum of £5 towards a testimonial to Bro. W. Hill, W.M., supported by his officers and a large number of members and visitors. Bro. F. C. Lockstone was raised to the third degree. The auditor's report was received and adopted, a balance in favour of the lodge, after clearance of all liabilities, remaining in the hands of the treasurer. Bro. The banquet was everything that could be desired, and thorough enjoyment pervaded the brilliant company during an evening which was further enlivened by the admirable performance of a more than ordinarily good programme of music, under the direction of Bro. James Weaver, P.M. Amongst the vocalists were the Misses Jenny Chamberlin and Lizzie Dunkley, Bros. Wakefield, Reed and Arthur Cranch, and Mr. Wade. A new quartette composed for the occasion by Bro. Weaver, "The Freemason's Hymn of Praise" (words by the late Bro. Rob. Morris, and reproduced in a former number of THE MASONIC STAR), was exceedingly well sung and gave general satisfaction. The entire proceedings of this installation meeting reflected the utmost credit upon W.M., officers and brethren, and on all others concerned in carrying out the arrangements.

PROSPECTUS.

THIS Company has been formed with the object of providing a PUBLIC SCHOOL education of the highest class for the sons of Freemasons and others, at the least possible cost consistent with efficiency. Such a school will, it is believed, meet a want already expressed by many brethren, and considering the numbers and influence of Freemasons, there is no doubt that a school supported by them cannot fail to be a great success.

As a first step the Company has contracted to purchase the freehold premises known as Craufurd College, Maidenhead, Berks, together with the playing fields (about 13 acres), fixtures, fittings, furniture, and goodwill for £16,423, of which sum the vendor takes £2,000 in fully paid-up Shares in the Company, which will take over the College as a going concern from the date of the completion of the purchase.

This property is most admirably adapted for the purpose required. It is within 25 miles of London, on the main line of the Great Western Railway. The position is particularly healthy, being on high ground and gravel soil. The premises comprise: the Head Master's residence, the College buildings, with accommodation for 127 boys, and, in addition to the ordinary requirements of a school, there are covered fives courts, a cinder track for cycling and sports, a gymnasium, carpenter's room, large tepid swimming bath, and a laboratory.

The College was founded upwards of 40 years ago, and has ever since been doing good work in the education of sons of gentlemen. It is now, and has for some years past, been conducted under the Head Mastership of the Rev. James Payne, D.C.L., assisted by a Wrangler, and other Graduates in honours of Oxford and Cambridge, and in the last Report on the condition of the College, dated July, 1888, the Rev. R. K. Vinter, M.A. (late Fellow of St. John's College, Cambridge, Examiner for the Cambridge Local Syndicate) says: "It is evident that the course of education adopted at Craufurd College is well defined and thorough. The "youngest is able to move upward step by step until he is ready to present himself for the most searching competitive examinations. "Such a plan avoids high-pressure and must recommend itself to parents as the proper and surest way of educating youth."

Arrangements have been made by which Dr. Payne and the present staff of Masters will continue in the service of the Company, and there are at present some 50 boarders at the School. The advantage of the purchase to Shareholders is manifest, as the Company is saved the necessity of starting a school, by acquiring this long-established one, thus earning a dividend from the commencement.

There is no other school offering advantages to Freemasons; it may therefore confidently be expected that the number of pupils will speedily reach 100, in which case it is estimated that the profits of the Company will not be less than £10 per cent.

(I.) The Shares are, in the first instance, offered to Freemasons, and all vacancies in the school will be filled up first from the sons of Shareholders; in the second place from the sons of Freemasons; and lastly from the sons of the public generally. The holders of not less than five Shares may nominate a boy for admission into the school on the terms specified below.

Special exhibitions, tenable at the College, will be offered for competition to sons of Freemasons.

(III). Scholarships will be given (as funds permit) to those who wish to proceed from the College to the Universities. (IV.) Exhibitions will be offered to a few of the eleverest and most deserving boys of the Royal Masonic Institution, to enable them to continue their education at Craufurd College after leaving the former. The terms are at present fixed as follows:-

BOARDERS under 14 nominated by Shareholders 50 Guineas. un-nominated over 14, but under 16, nominated 60 un-nominated 70 over 16, at Special Terms

DAY SCHOLARS, nominated ... 20 Guineas. un-nominated 24

The Directors are empowered (after the Shareholders have received at least £5 per cent.) to set aside the profits, or a portion thereof for the above-mentioned Exhibitions and Scholarships, and it is believed that Freemasons will assist by donations to augment this Fund. A member of the Craft has already offered two exhibitions for the benefit of boys coming from the Royal Masonic School.

Applications for Shares should be made to the Bankers' Solicitors, or at the Offices of the Company.
